Arty is a new student attending the University of British Columbia Vancouver. And since campus is right outside of one of Canada's largest cities, he's having some trouble finding his way around.

He tried his best getting to class, but ended up at Taco Bell instead...

He was very late for class that day

The next day, he tried to get to his class again, but got lost and ended up at Shoney's

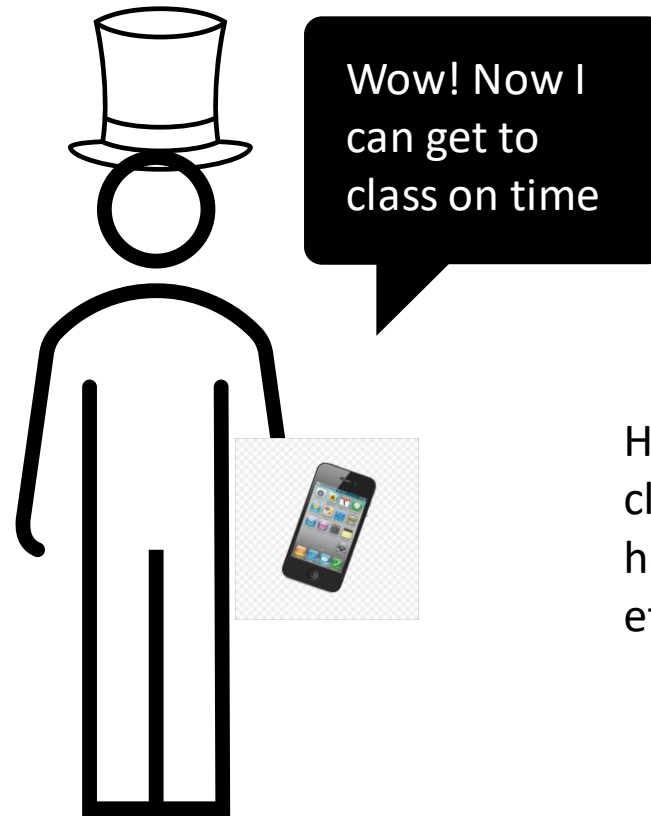

Arty had an existential crisis. He was, again, very late for class that day

Arty was very sad.
He wanted a way to easily find his classes so he wouldn't be late anymore.
Maybe some sort of mobile application that gave him GPS directions to class buildings, classrooms, and campus
amenities.

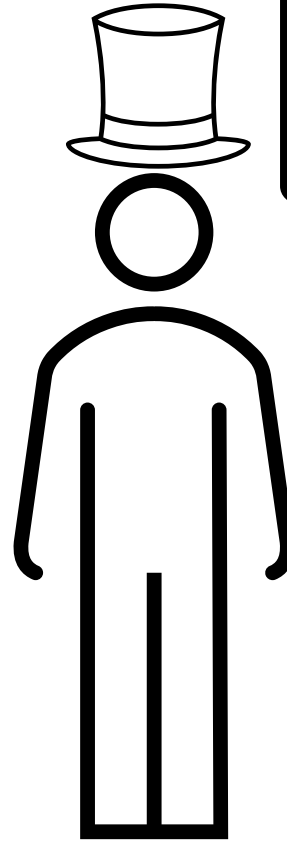

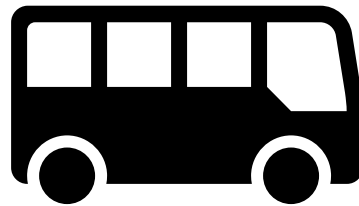

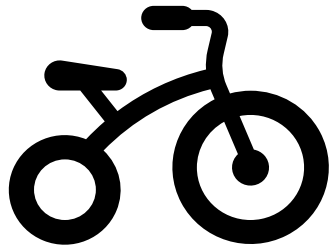

Arty downloaded classFinder! A tool to help students find their way around campus and campus buildings. Enter any building address and room number and classFinder will direct you to it!

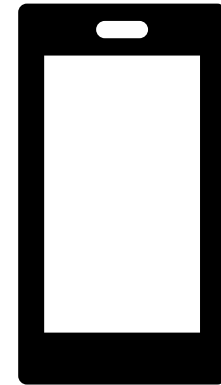

He uses the classroomFinder feature to help him find the most efficient way to his class.

With classFinder, Arty knows how to get to class, but now he needs to pick his mode of transportation. Lucky for him, classFinder will give Arty the most convenient mode of transportation based on topographical and GPS data.

How should I ride to class???

Take the bus,
Arthur.

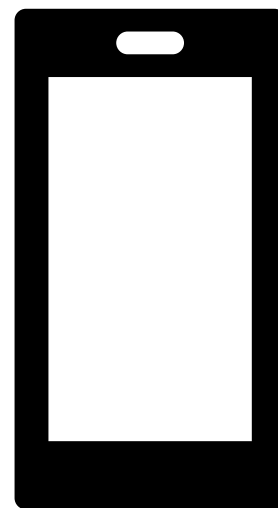

With classFinder, Arty is significantly less depressed.

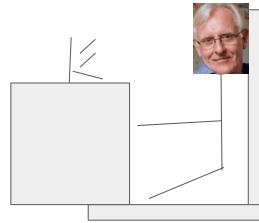

Thank God I can finally get to class on time now!

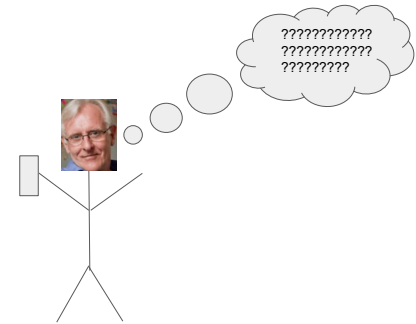

Abandon religion, Arthur.

William Dewey

Bill gets an email from his boss that he has to move to a new classroom to teach his course due to construction.

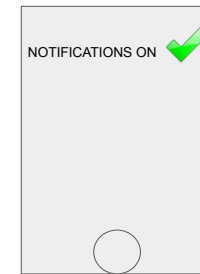

Bill is completely lost looking for his new class room and decides to download a class finder app recommended by the school.

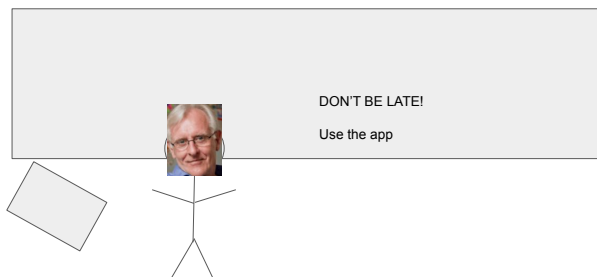

After just a few minutes bill finally finds his new class room cause of a detailed map provided to him when he put his school in the class finder app.

While moving his things into the new class room Bill has to use the restroom but doesn't know where any are so he pulls up the app quickly and finds one just in time.

Bill later learns from his son that he can make a login and turn notifications on the app to be notified when there is construction or traffic jams on and near campus.

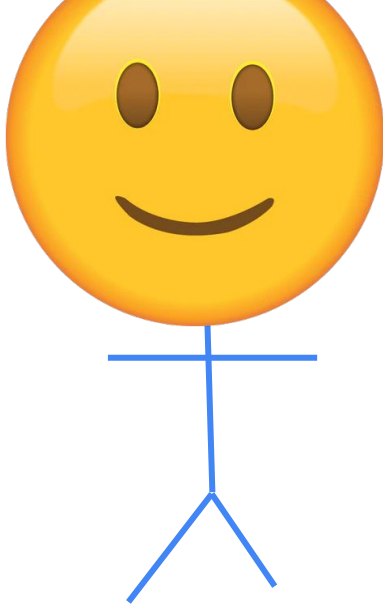

Now everytime a student is late to class bill tells everyone to download the class finder app and if they are ever late again they are not welcome to his classroom.

Storyboard Assignment

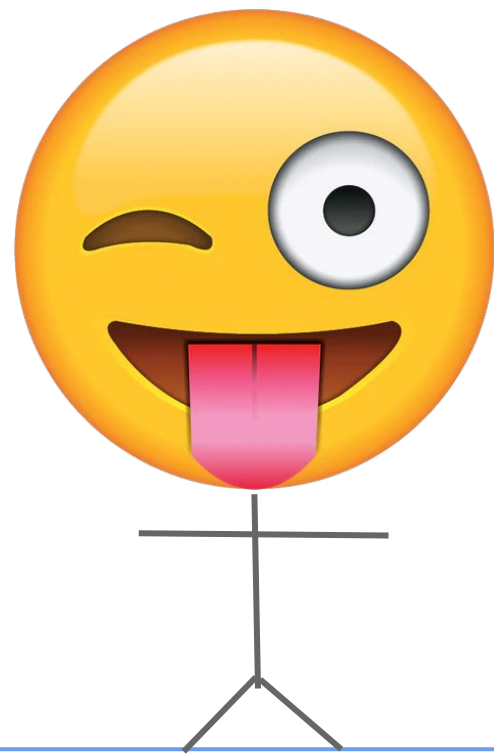

This is Jessica Powell, a 22 year old Biomedical science exchange student who is new to the area.

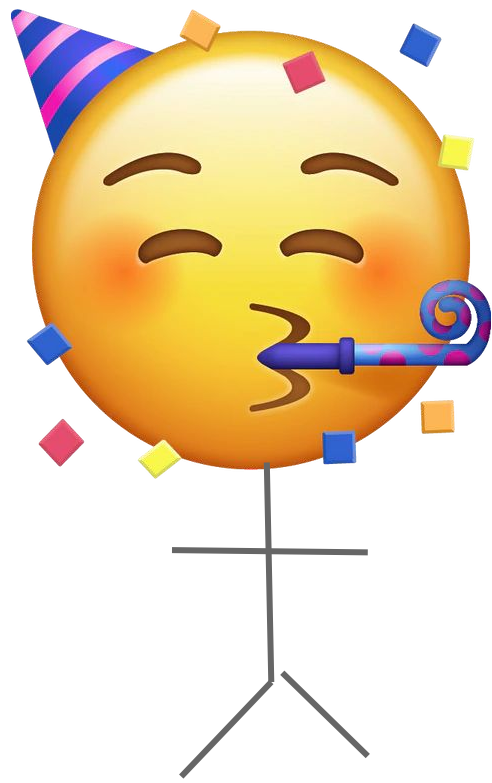

Jessica, however, has one small problem: since she is new here she doesn't know where any of her classes or her new internship is, thus she was almost always late her first week.

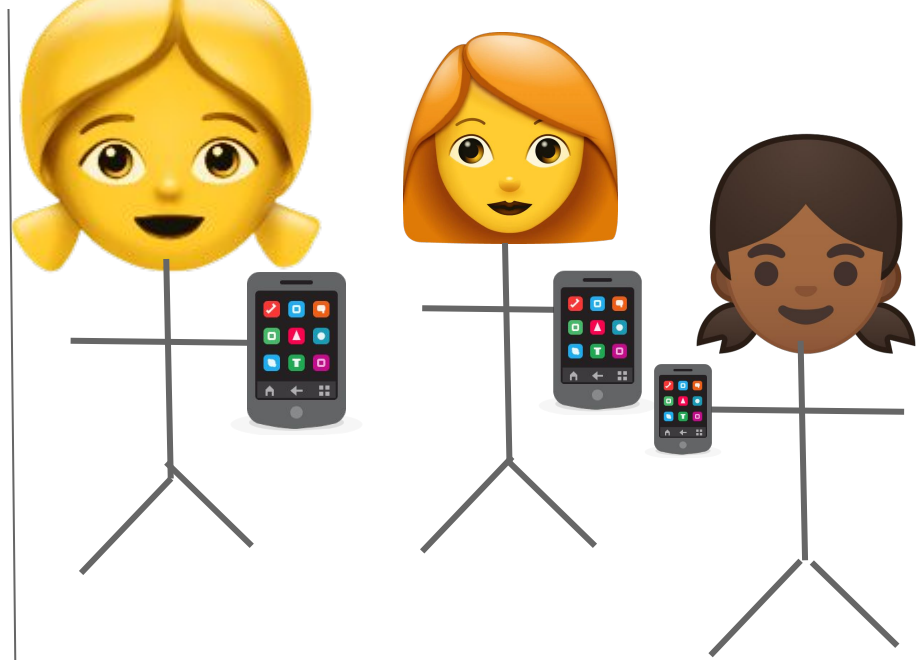

After her week of trial and tribulation, Jessica got a bright idea.....

She would download the new Location Services app on her phone so she won't get lost anymore! Good thinking Jessica!!!

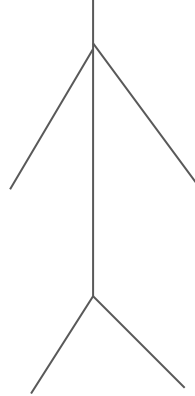

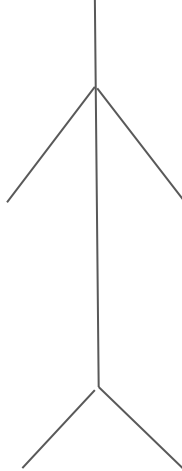

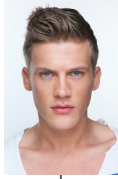

Thanks to location services app, Jessica will never have to worry about being lost again

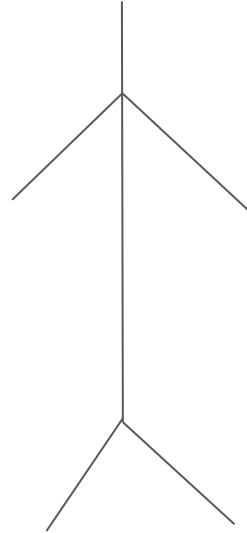

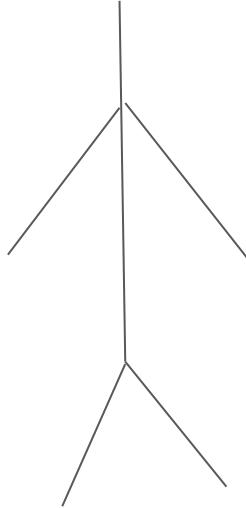

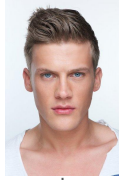

Plus with the help-a-fellow feature she can both give and get help wherever she is, whenever she needs it.

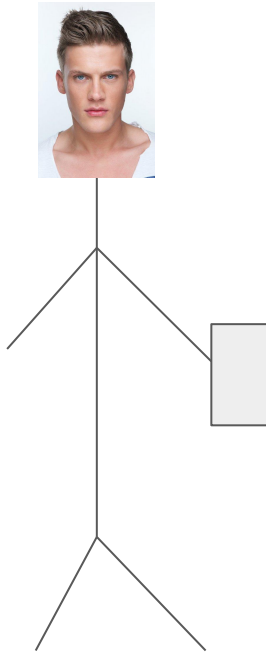

Well she could, if she had any friends.....

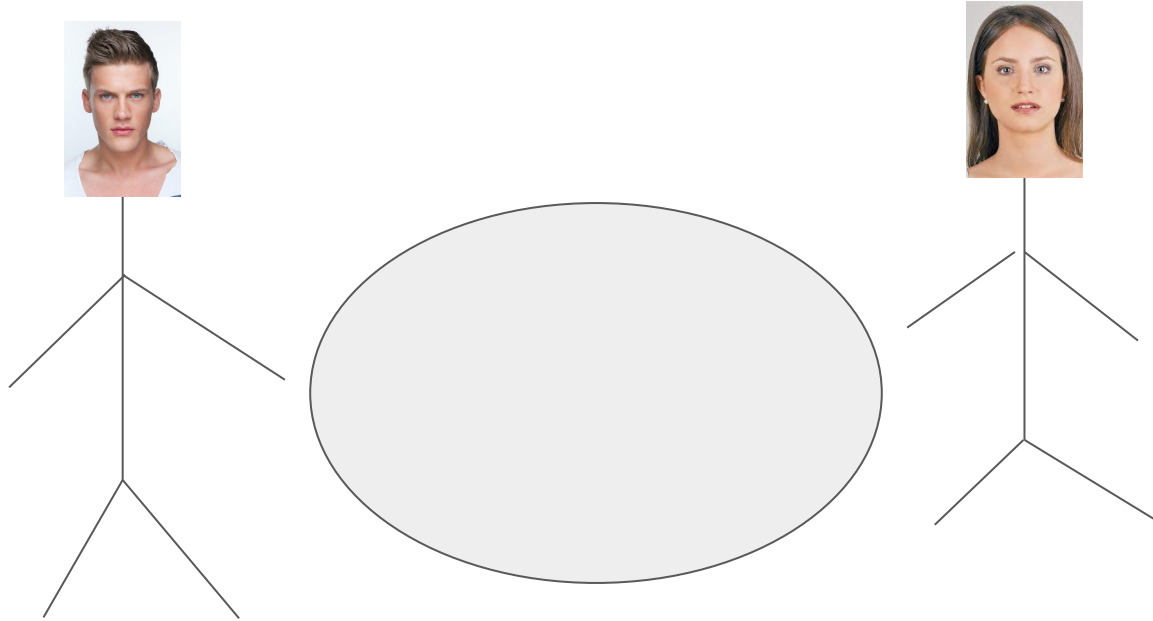

Ryan and his gf are super in love. They meet every morning in the cafeteria. They talk for hours on end and enjoy each others company.

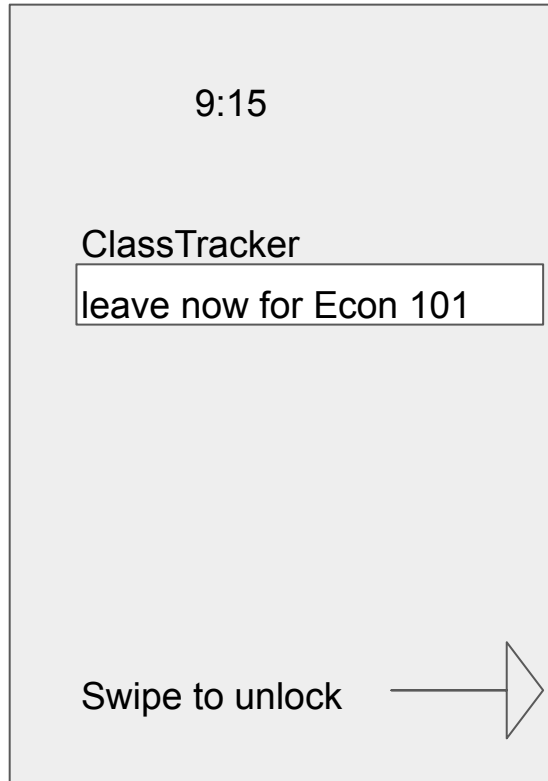

Unfortunately for Ryan, this loving relationship has caused him to miss class on several occasions because he loses track of time. His professor tells him this is the last time he can miss class.

Ryan decides to download the ClassTracker app because he wants to get to his classes quickly and efficiently, and he noticed his gf uses it and is never late for classes.

The next day Ryan and his gf are eating breakfast together in the cafeteria. Ryan is deep in conversation and does not realize that he will miss his class if he doesn't leave soon.

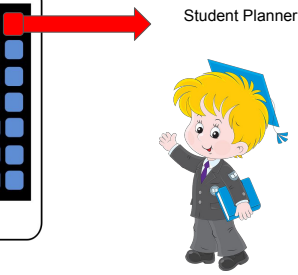

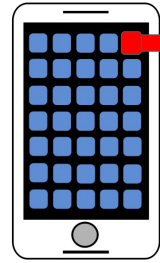

Good thing Ryan filled out his schedule on ClassTracker the night before. ClassTracker notifies Ryan that he needs to leave now if he wants to make it to class on time.

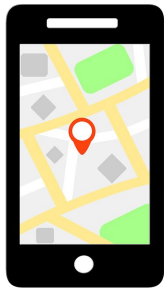

Ryans professor is very happy to see Ryan in class that day. She was rooting for his success.

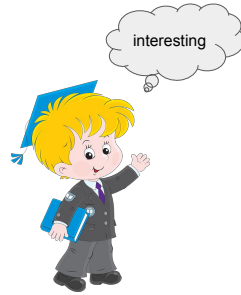

Wilburn is a dedicated student and wants to excel in school. Unfortunately, he is constantly running late due to traffic, weather and other obstacles. He wishes there was a solution in which he can get to school quicker and on time.

Wilburn was ranting to his friends about being late, wishing there was a quick and easy solution. That is when a fellow classmate, John, showed Wilburn the new Student Planner App.

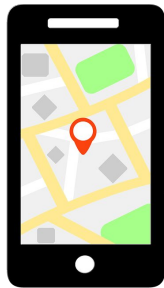

John was demonstrating how the app has many features, one of which is getting to school on time. It shows not only the current traffic and best route, but also the time to leave each day based on this schedule.

Fascinated by this concept, Wilburn downloads the app, puts in his schedule. He was going to give this app a go the next day.

The morning he woke up he checked the app. It was going to rain during the day so he decided to take an umbrella. He left on time the app recommended, and to his surprise hhe reached on time!.

Wilburn used the app everyday and was never late to class!
